A man must reap as he sows. If he sows ill-health he will reap ill-health. If he neglects his health the weeds of disease will grow up and choke it.
It is a daily and hourly marvel that men will recklessly neglect their health, when a moment's thought should tell them that they are counting death. It lies in most every man's power to live to a green old age. If a man would only take the same care of himself that he does of his horse, or cow, or dog, he would enjoy good health. When a man owns a hundred-dollar horse, and it gets sick, he does not waste any time about doctoring him up. When his garden gets full of weeds, he doesn't delay about rooting them out, for he knows they will choke out his vegetables. When he is out of sorts, sick, nervous, headache, has no appetite and is restless and sleepless at night, he pays little attention to it. The result is consumption, nervous prostration or some serious blood or skin disease. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best of all medicines for hard working men. It gives edge to the appetite, facilitates the flow of digestive juices, invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. It is the great blood-maker and flesh-builder. It cures 95 per cent of all cases of lingering coughs, bronchitis and throat affections, weak lungs, bleeding from lungs and kindred affections. Do not wait until the lungs are too far wasted to admit of being cured.
"As you know, five years ago the doctors had given me up to die with consumption," writes Mr. E. G. McKim of Danville, Fayette Co., W. Va. "I took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and my cough and asthma had taken steadily, an doctor, and a doctor's Medical Discovery."
Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. One little "Pellet" is a dose.

English Secret Service Money.
The term "secret service money" is usually applied to a fund placed at the disposal of ministers to be expended at their discretion in promoting or protecting the interests of this country. These moneys consist of a sum of $35,000 annually included in the estimates, in respect of which ministers are only required to make a declaration that the moneys spent have been expended "in accordance with the intentions of parliament."

As ministers are required to give no account of their stewardship, it is obvious we have no means of knowing how these moneys are expended. The reader, however, who carries his mind back to episodes within his knowledge, such as the collapse of the Fenian conspirators or of their later development, the "Irish Invincibles," will have little difficulty in realizing how indispensable a fund of this kind is to the protection of a state and of understanding the infinite variety of uses to which it may be applied.—Chambers' Journal.

Slighting the Waiter.
It was at a railway refreshment room. The passenger was hungry and in a hurry.
"Please pass me them pertaters, mister," he said, addressing an elegant gentleman who sat next him.
The latter slowly focused his gold eyeglasses on the speaker. "Did you think that I was one of the waiters?" he asked icily.
The others held their knives and forks suspended in midair, expecting to see the man shrivel up, but no such phenomenon took place. He turned and beckoned to the nearest waiter.
"George, come here, please."
"What is it, sir?" asked George.
"I wanted to apologize to you—that is all. You see, I mistook this party here for you, but I hope you won't be offended at it. Now pass me them pertaters, and we'll go on with the rest of the meal."—London Tit-Bits.

A Question of Degree.
Judge A.—Well, Uncle Zeb, where are you going?
The Benedict—I wuz jist going to do cote, suh, to see you, suh, and get a remorse from dat yellow limb dat I married the yarder day.
Judge A.—Why, see here, that won't do! Didn't you promise me that you would take her for better or worse and all that?
The Benedict—Yas, suh, but den she am a sight wuss dan I took her fur.—Harper's Bazar.

Saved.
Nodd—Blinker had a hard time the other day. His head clerk is in the habit of giving him checks to sign, and Blinker, who has every confidence in him, always does so without question. This day his wife filled out one, and the clerk took it in. Blinker signed it.
Todd—Ruin him?
Nodd—No. It was for such a large amount the bank wouldn't cash it.—Detroit Free Press.

In Luck.
"You think you know all about women, don't you?" asked the newly married boarder.
"No," replied the savage bachelor, "and I am mighty glad I don't."—Indianapolis Journal.

A Warm England.
The extremes of outdoor temperature in England vary more than 123 degrees. The greatest heat probably on record was registered in the valley of the Medway on July 22, 1868, when the thermometer at Tonbridge stood in the shade at 100 1/2 degrees F. Eleven years later, in December, 1879, 55 degrees of frost were recorded at Blackadder, in Berwickshire—i. e., 23 degrees below zero F. More remarkable, however, than the heat in summer were the hot winters of 1748 and 1837 and the warm Januaries of 1677, 1684 and 1898.—Notes and Queries.

CAUGHT IN THE TRAP

THE GREAT SMALLPOX SWINDLE AND HOW IT WAS WORDED.

A Brazen and Well Planned Scheme by Which Two Sharp Confidence Men Bunkoed a Hotel Keeper Out of $5,000.

"I dare say you never heard of the great smallpox swindle," said the hotel manager. "The facts of that remarkable affair were withheld at the time for the most urgent reasons of policy, and even now I prefer to tell the story without names or localities. It happened in the fall of 1886, when a certain hotel in a large western city was crowded with tourists. One day, at the height of the season, two gentlemanly looking strangers put up at the house and were assigned to what we call a 'double room.' About a week later one of them appeared at the office and requested a private interview with the manager. 'I regret to inform you,' he said, after the door was closed, 'that my friend is down with a severe attack of smallpox.'"

"The proprietor nearly fell out of his chair. There was known to be smallpox in the city, and the bare suggestion that the disease had appeared in the hotel was enough to empty it in a twinkling. To let the news get out meant the loss of thousands upon thousands of dollars. It meant the ruin of the season's business. 'He must be quietly removed at once,' said the proprietor, trying to control his agitation. 'Removed!' exclaimed the other. 'Taken through the cold air to a lazaretto! Why, man, that would be murder! I'll not permit it!'

"The hotel keeper was thunder struck. 'Do you mean to say he must stay here?' he gasped.
"Certainly," said the stranger.
"It was a ticklish situation. The hotel keeper dare not enforce his suggestion, while to let the case remain was like storing gunpowder in a furnace room. He pleaded, protested, begged, threatened and blustered, but all in vain. The man was firm as a rock. 'If you attempt to eject my sick friend,' he declared, 'I'll publish your inhumanity to the entire community.'"

"Finally it occurred to the distracted proprietor to see, first, whether it was really a case of smallpox. So he sent for a physician, swore him to secrecy and hustled him up to the room. The doctor took one look at the disfigured face on the pillow and reported that the malady was there in a malignant type. He advised the man's immediate removal at any cost. 'If you keep him concealed,' he said, 'the disease may spread, and it would ruin you for life. You owe something to your guests.' Again the proprietor interviewed the friend, and again the latter refused to budge from his position.

"Where can I take him?" he demanded. "You know very well I can't get comfortable quarters for such a purpose, and I won't have him butchered in a pesthouse to please any landlord on earth!" The hotel man felt his hair stand on end, but concluded to let things stand as they were until morning.

"Next day he sent for the sick man's friend and asked him whether he had any suggestions to make.
"Yes," he replied; 'I thought up a plan over night, which you may adopt or not, as you like. As I said before,' he continued, 'it is useless to try to rent quarters for such a case. We might, however, buy a small cottage and take him there. I have figured the thing up and the total expense would be about $5,000. If you are willing to hand over that amount, I will take him away and assume all further responsibility. I make the offer entirely out of sympathy for your guests.'"

"The landlord looked him in the eye. 'I, too, have thought the situation over,' he said, 'and I'm convinced it's a confidence game pure and simple. I'm convinced there's nothing the matter with your dear friend up stairs, but I am also convinced that the slightest breath of the affair would greatly damage the reputation of the house. As a business proposition I consider it worth $5,000 to get rid of you.'"

"The other man smiled ironically. 'Call a cab and get out your money,' he said, and inside an hour the incubus had been spirited through a side door swathed in blankets and driven away. "As the landlord shrewdly surmised, the whole thing was a confidence game, and he learned the particulars later on through a sport he had once befriended. There was nothing the matter with the rascal up stairs except that his face had been pricked a little with a quill dipped in croton oil, something that makes a horrible looking pustule, which disappears in a few days and leaves no mark. I always thought the hotel man showed good sense in taking the course he did. He was caught in a trap and took the cheapest way out. The bare rumor of even a suspected case would probably have involved a loss of $50,000 or $60,000. It was far better to pay the $5,000 and charge it to education."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

THE WORK OF THE MONEY POWER.

The contention over the remonetization of silver contains a vital principle, which we will term centralization, that is largely overlooked by those who are seeking its reinstatement as a money metal with all of its ancient rights. Opposition to the pronounced principle included in centralization when applied to silver represents the only means of protection the people have against the over-reaching demands and purposes of the money power.

The work of the times tends in all directions to centralization of industries. There is a steady increase of effort to centralize business in all of its departments. In each department that is independent of other departments in industrial work there is effort to concentrate and centralize. And, furthermore, the tendency of the age is not only to centralize effort in the industrial departments, but the effort to centralize is largely developed by the governments of the nations, which is declared through the efforts of the leading powers in the last decade to extend their authority over weak nations and outlying States.

The centralizing work of the enlightened nations as it progresses has all the marks of a prearranged plan, which arrangement would have been impossible fifty years ago. War would have then, under like conditions, been a result.

The combined work of centralization by the great powers did not have its origin in the governments of the nations. The work of centralization was an invention of labor as a result of its efforts to provide labor-saving machines and appliances.

The idea of centralized power from the success made by the genius of labor in time began to be applied to business, and from its success in business undertakings, the infection reached the money power, that developed from experience in its application to finance, a passion for greater gain by an extended use of centralized power to money interests, but before the application could be made to money interests the governments had to be consulted and enlisted in the enterprise, and when the governments had consented, the work of subjugating mankind in the interest of the money power was begun. But in order to make a success of the business silver had to be stricken down as a money metal, and before silver could be removed the United States government had to be consulted, and in 1873 the necessary work agreed on was carried through Congress by fraud. The plan to cut down silver in the United States in the interest of the money power was entered upon by the Republican party and has been from the time of demonetization carried forward by that party, in the interest of the money trusts and against the best interests of the people.

When silver and the real interests of labor were attacked and received a thrust from the hand of an assassin in the house of its friends that was intended to be fatal, the far-reaching plan of the money power to enslave the earth was not developed. To procure centralization of money interests silver had to be degraded in the United States to a subsidiary use in the interests of the money trust.

The extension of trade is given to the world as an excuse by the nations for their work to procure centralization. If the excuse had the form of a fact there would be no harm to the race or to mankind. But it is not a fact; it is an excuse for an unwarranted exercise of power in the interest of Mammon, whose power largely controls and directs the nations.

It is wonderful how the governments and the money power agree. The interests of trade is the excuse given by the nations for their aggressive work upon the weak, and the interests of trade is furnished to order by the money trust as an excuse for its work in demonetizing silver. The plan, which is in rapid consummation by the money trust to own the earth, aided by the governments of the leading nations, is to force the weak into submission and fool the American people into submission; and when it was learned three years ago that they would not be fooled into submission, the rule of force was applied through threats made against business men and by intimidation of the weak, and when these means were not sufficient money, with all of its corrupting agencies, was used.

The contention over silver in the United States is laden with consequences to the race as no question has been since the beginning. The struggle with Mammon has a character never before given to any proposition upon which man has been called to pass. Silver as a money factor is in the way of full control of the earth by the money trust, and it will not down at its bidding.

The intelligence of the American people, who will not permit themselves to be driven into submission by the monster trust, will yet save the world from universal slavery.

BRYAN IN KENTUCKY.

Colonel Bryan is in Kentucky making speeches in the interest of the Democratic ticket in that State. He poses as a leader and demands that Democrats support the ticket. There is a faction in Ohio who refuse to support McLean, and when Bryan goes to that State he will do as he has done in Kentucky.

The Colonel means business, and fearlessly talks it. Nature has done much to make him a leader of men. The character that nature has given him unfits him for mean political work, as he does not possess the required cunning or secretiveness that is always present in the lowest order of political workers. He is a noble example of manhood.

THE GOLF CRAZE

HERE AT LAST

University Club Is Organized and Practice Has Already Begun.

The University Golf Club has come into existence and football has already been forced back into second place.

The cadets it, is said, have carried a kick to the head of the school. They demand that the true blue of their uniforms be changed to brilliant Scotch plaids. They also ask that they be relieved from wearing pants! Of course kilts will be worn in their stead.

It is also reported that the kick was taken under advice and may be granted. The President of the University is himself a golfer.

A four hole course has been laid out on the campus. The first hole is back of Stewart hall. The second is between the gymnasium and Lincoln hall. The third is back of Lincoln hall and the last is at the north end of the campus.

Those who have already joined the club are President Stubbs, Prof. Thurtell, Geo. E. Taylor, Prof. Blessing, Mr. O'Sullivan, Dr. Fee, Prof. Cushman and Dr. Phillips.

A full outfit of golf paraphernalia is now on the way from the city.

General Grant's Suggestion.

An official who quite generally knows what he is talking about was dilating the other afternoon upon the funny hopelessness for all reasonable purposes of many of the little creeks and rivers for the "improvement" of which congress is asked to appropriate money under the river and harbor bill.

"When Grant was president," said this official, "he used to alternately chuckle and fulminate against the expenditure of good government coin for the 'improvement' of measly little streams that he himself knew could never be made fit for any human purpose. There was a Virginian who, failing to get congress to stick in an appropriation for the dredging of a little stream down in his section, finally imported Grant in the matter.

"Let's see," said Grant musingly. "I believe I crossed that stream in 1864, wasn't it?"

"The Virginian, who remembered Grant's crossing of the stream, replied affirmatively.

"Look here," said Grant after a pause, his face lighting up suddenly, "why don't you macadamize it?"—Washington Post.

Told of Daniel Boone.

"Whar yer goin'?"

"Goin' west, stranger."

"When yer goin'?"

"Goin' now, stranger."

"Ain't got no boat. How yer goin' ter git across?"

"Boat! Thank a crick like this here's goin' ter stop me? Goin' ter ride cross, stranger."

He meant what he said, for the speaker was Daniel Boone, and he sat his horse, gun in hand, on the bluffs where the custom house now stands and gazed across that "crick," the mighty Mississippi, toward the west "whar he wuz goin'."

This was further back than the memory of the oldest inhabitant of Memphis extends, but tradition says that it took ten men to hold Daniel to keep him from wading his horse across the Mississippi.—Memphis Scimitar.

A Bad Symptom.

"Has George ever hinted that he had thought of you as a possible wife?" asked the anxious mother.

"No," replied the girl, a faraway look in her eyes, "and I'm afraid he never will."

"Why," said the mother, "I thought—"

"It doesn't matter what you thought, mamma, dear," interrupted the daughter. "Only last night he complained of feeling drowsy, and it wasn't 9 o'clock."

I consider it not only a pleasure but a duty I owe to my neighbors to tell about the wonderful cure effected in my case by the timely use of Chamberlain's Cough, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I was taken very badly with flux and procured a bottle of this remedy. A few doses of it effected a permanent cure. I take pleasure in recommending it to others suffering from dreadful disease.—J. W. LYNCH, Dorr, W. Va. This remedy sold by W. Pinniger.

The ancients believed that rheumatism was the work of a demon within man. Any one who has had an attack of sciatic or inflammatory rheumatism will agree that the infliction is demoniac enough to warrant the belief. It has never been claimed that Chamberlain's Pain Balm would cast out demons, but it will cure rheumatism and hundreds bear testimony to the truth of this statement. One application relieves the pain, and this quick relief which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. For sale by W. Pinniger

BEHIND THE BARS

Capture of Patrick Crowley.

The Posse Had Little Difficulty Locating the Escaped Convict.

Patrick Crowley, who made his escape from the State penitentiary yesterday morning, was captured between 3 and 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon at a cabin at Brunswick mill three miles northeast of the prison. This cabin was formerly occupied by a friend of his named Hoolihan, but now deserted and nailed up.

It is not known by any except the prison officials how the escape was made. He was missed by them shortly after 10 o'clock and Sheriff Kinney was immediately notified by telephone. He quickly gathered a posse and joined Captain of the Guards Schatzline in the chase.

Trailers were put on the track and soon a capture was effected. Crowley was easily overcome and is safe again behind the bars, where the prison officials will take good care that he remains.

The prisoner was arrested ten years ago and convicted of murder in the second degree, receiving a life sentence. His victim was a shift boss named Nichols on the Comstock.

The crime was peculiarly atrocious and for the last six years has had more bearing on Storey county politics than either the silver or tariff question. Men were even run for office on the issue of "are you for or against pardoning Crowley."

A strong effort was made only a few days ago to secure his freedom but the board stood 2 for and 3 against pardoning him.

ALFRED NELSON.

Now Will You Be Good.

Some time ago the Silver State made the assertion that ten men in Humboldt county could buy all of the realty in Washoe county. Either that paper was mistaken or the ten men dodged the assessor, for their valuations recently footed up read: Realty, $2,432,185 and personal property, $1,167,530, making a total of $3,599,715. The Elko papers made a similar assertion not long since, which was also contradicted by the figures. Washoe leads the counties by more than a million dollars margin.

Correction.

The Gazette in its issue of the 17th instant said it was informed that the jury in the Dodge vs. Williams case stood eight in favor of Dodge to four in favor of Williams. We have been requested by members of the jury who were of the eight that declared for Williams, to say the statement of the case published in JOURNAL was correct, and that eight of the jurors were for Williams on both questions. The JOURNAL could give the names of the jurors who were for Dodge, but that is not necessary.

An Epidemic of Whooping Cough.

Last winter during an epidemic of whooping cough my children contracted the disease, having severe coughing spells. We had used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy very successfully for croup and naturally turned to it at that time and found it relieved the cough and effected a complete cure.—JOHN E. CLIFFORD, Proprietor Norwood House, Norwood, N. Y. This remedy is for sale by W. Pinniger.

SCHOOL TEACHERS

ENJOY A SOCIAL

Pleasant Event in the High School Building Last Evening.

The county superintendent and the principal and teachers of Reno were hosts and hostesses at a pleasant social event last evening in the high school building.

The guests were the teachers who have come from Washoe, Storey and Lyon counties to attend the Institute. A number of members of the University faculty were present, the whole company numbering about sixty.

The third and fourth grade rooms were cleared of desks and charmingly decorated with foliage plants, bunting and flowers. It is in these rooms that the day sessions of the institute will be held.

An informal program was rendered. First on the program was a solo by Richard Tobin. Mrs. B. C. Shearer recited. There were songs by George Ward, Miss A. H. Schadler and Charles Loder. Mrs. Layton played the accompaniments. All the members were warmly encored.

After the program a light collation was served.

The social angurs not only a large attendance, but an enjoyable and instructive institute.

RENO NEEDS NEW SCHOOL BUILDING

The Rooms Are Overcrowded—Distribution of the Pupils.

Principal Bray has modified the plans of the school board regarding concentration of all beginning pupils in the Riverside school. The plans of the board will, however, go into effect at the beginning of the next school year.

A class has been taken out of Miss Rullison's department at the University training school. Other changes have been made so that pupils now average about forty-seven to each teacher.

Owing to the increase in population this city will badly need another school building before another year.

LOCAL SHORTSTOPS.

The Nevada Literary Society will meet at the home of Mrs. Jeff. Brooks Monday evening.

Evening sessions of the teachers' institute will be held in the Congregational church.

The public schools will be closed today and to-morrow to permit the teachers to attend institute.

Tickets are now on sale for the flyer. Pullman accommodations must be secured.

The Truckee river is gradually rising.

The saw mills up the Truckee have started again. They all have orders ahead and will cut a month or six weeks longer if the weather permits.

Brave Men Fall

Victims to stomach, liver and kidney troubles as well as women and all feel this results in loss of appetite, poisons in the blood, backache, and tired, listless run-down feeling. But there's no need to feel like that. Listen to J. W. Gardner, Idaville, Ind. He says: "Electric Bitters are just thing for a man when he is all run down, and and don't care whether he lives or dies. It did more to give me new strength and appetite than anything I could take. I can now eat anything and have new lease on life." Only 50 cents at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store Every bottle guaranteed.

Justice Court.

William Ingersol, a member of the Weary Willie brotherhood, limped in to plead guilty to a charge of vagrancy and was ordered to appear for sentence later in the day.

John Cass, William Short, Robert Funk and Earl Wilson, accused of participating in the car robbery last Sunday, pleaded guilty to charges of petit larceny, and will be sentenced this morning.

All Are Welcome.

A cordial invitation is extended to all friends of the public schools to attend the sessions of the county teachers' institute to be held to-day and to-morrow in the high school building.

A number of teachers from this and other counties have already arrived and the attendance promises to be large.

Weather Forecast.

V. BOUTON ARRESTED

Charged With Stealing Cattle.

Taken Into Custody Yesterday in San Francisco—A. Long Chase.

Victor Bouton—who for many years resided in this city with his parents, Major and Mrs. Bouton, now of Salt Lake, and his sisters, one of whom, before she wedded a foreign nobleman, was Madeline Bouton—was arrested yesterday in San Francisco.

Bouton is charged with rustling cattle in the Humboldt country and the officers think they have a clear case against him.

Some ten days ago Deputy Sheriff Taylor of Humboldt county telegraphed to the Reno officials to arrest Vie on a warrant issued there, but did not specify the charge. An effort was made to locate him but he had left Reno the night previous, presumably for the west.

The following day Deputy Sheriff Taylor arrived but left for California by the next train. He traced Bouton to San Francisco where the arrest was made.

Tote Fair, Brethren.

While Editor Hummel of the Dispatch was in Reno, his hired man almost wore out the office shears clipping news from the JOURNAL, without crediting the same.

The Carson News had a spicy account of the Nevada-Pacific football game. It was remarkable how closely it resembled the JOURNAL's account published the previous morning. Not a letter nor punctuation mark differed.

We are under obligations to the Enterprise for lifting so many news items from this paper. The obligation would be increased if our neighbor would kindly state his source of information.

Kate Field's Love Letter.
If that charming woman, the late Kate Field, did not marry, it was assuredly not because she did not have many an admirer. A Washington lady has in her possession a little old bit of yellow paper upon which is penciled a boyish scrawl. It was preserved by Miss Field from her little girl days. The scrawl runs thus:
"wont you mete me down bye The Gate after school Yue nowe i Luv yue."

On the other side of the bit of paper is the address, thus:
"Miss Kate Field, Esq., last Seat next to the Door goin out."

It must have been like a breath of the forgotten perfume of yesteryears when the clever, kindly woman happened upon this little old piece of yellow paper on a rainy afternoon of rummaging.

Trapped by Its Portrait.
If an old English writer be true in his observations, the pheasant must be a very simple bird, for he declares that it puts its head in the ground and thinks that all its body is then hidden.
This is just what our old friend the ostrich does in the African desert. The same author says that it was also captured by another curious plan. A picture of the bird was painted on cloth and then placed in a spot where it was sure of being seen. By and by a silly pheasant coming along catches sight of the portrait and goes up to have a close view of the new neighbor. While engaged in inspecting the canvas the fowler draws near from behind and throws his net over the unwary art

Jack Redeemed Himself.
A mother, indignant to find her little son very low in his class at school, exclaimed wrathfully:
"I am out of all patience with you,
Jack! I should just like to know why George Jones is always at the head of his class, while you are always at the foot!"
Jack hesitated for a moment, and then, looking his mother squarely in the face, he said innocently:
"You forget that Jones has very clever parents!"—Tit-Bits.

The man who is always pointing out to other people what a lot of money they might have if they took his advice never has any himself.
